

department in Somalia

Paul Daniels and Ben Lindsay examine a Yambo, the principle farm implement of Somalia.

sabbath on Friday.

There is an American School for children of elementary age, but Stuart Lindsay and others of high school age study through the University of Nebraska Home Study.

Somalia is located on the beautiful Indian Ocean with hundreds of miles of coastline. Mogadishu, the capital where they live, is a port city. They enjoy weekly trips to swim in the warm Indian Ocean.

These families report they have inconveniences living in an under-developed country, but the satisfaction of working with these choice people who need help so desperately outweighs the difficulties.

The Lindsay's and Daniels' send greetings to their families and friends in Wasatch County.
